A

BILL

to provide for the establishment of an effective system to protect refugees and asylum-seekers by means of an appropriate legal framework to determine claims for asylum and to provide for the rights and obligations flowing from such status and matters connected therewith;

WHEREAS, the Constitution of India requires all persons to be treated in a fair and just manner consistent with the guarantees of equality, fairness and due process of law;

AND WHEREAS, the Supreme Court and the High Courts in India have extended the protection of certain fundamental rights to refugees and asylum-seekers;

AND WHEREAS, India has acceded to all major international human rights instruments and demonstrated its commitment to international law and human rights norms including the right to seek asylum and the principle of non-refoulement;

AND WHEREAS, India has a long tradition and experience of providing humanitarian assistance and protection to refugees and asylum-seekers;

AND WHEREAS, there is a need to consolidate, streamline and harmonize the varied practices, policies and standards applicable to refugees and asylum-seekers in India.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Sixty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

CHAPTER I

(u) “refugee” means an applicant whose application for asylum has been determined to meet the criteria under section 4 by the Commission or the Appellate Board, as the case may be, under the terms of this Act or who has been declared to be a refugee by a notification under section 30.

3. In exercising the powers conferred by this Act, regard shall be had to the following considerations, namely—

Principles of refugee protection.

(a) that all foreigners who have faced or are at risk of facing persecution in their country of origin, and who enter India, whether directly from their country of origin or indirectly, or who are already present in India, are entitled to seek asylum;

(b) that care has to be taken to ensure that the principle of non-refoulement mentioned under section 8 is upheld;

(c) that the determination of applications for asylum must be by a fair and transparent system that must abide at all times with the norms of due process;

(d) that asylum-seekers are entitled to interim legal protection and shall not be expelled or returned before a final decision on asylum is reached;

(e) that asylum-seekers and refugees are vulnerable persons deserving of basic social and economic protection;

(f) that the repatriation of a refugee to his country of origin must be conducted in a safe and dignified manner and only after ensuring that the decision to repatriate is voluntary and informed; and

(g) that the unity of a refugee's family shall be maintained.

CHAPTER II

PRINCIPLES OF REFUGEE STATUS

4. (1) A person qualifies as a refugee for the purposes of this Act if such person—

Criteria for recognition as a refugee.

(a) is outside his country of origin and is unable or unwilling to return to or avail himself of the protection of that country because of a well-founded fear of persecution on account of race, religion, sex, nationality, ethnicity, membership of a particular social group or political opinion; or

(b) has left his country owing to serious and indiscriminate threats to life, physical integrity or freedom resulting from generalized violence or events seriously disturbing public order.

(2) Dependants of a person who qualifies as a refugee under sub-section (1) shall also be deemed to be refugees.

(3) In the case of a person who has more than one nationality, the term country of origin shall mean each of the countries of which he has nationality.

5. (1) A person shall be excluded from protection under this Act if—

Exclusion.

(a) there are serious reasons for considering that—

(i) he has committed a crime against peace, a war crime or a crime against humanity, as defined in any international legal instrument dealing with any such crimes which India has acceded to; or

(ii) he has committed a serious non-political crime outside India prior to his entry into the national territory; or

(iii) he has committed inhuman acts for any reason whatsoever outside of India; or 5

(iv) he has instigated, abetted or otherwise participated in committing the acts mentioned in sub-clauses (i), (ii) or (iii); or

(b) he poses a serious threat to the public order or national security of India and— 10

(i) has been convicted of an offence in India which is punishable by a term of imprisonment of at least 10 years; or

(ii) has committed an act outside India that, if committed in India, would constitute an offence punishable by a term of imprisonment of at least 10 years; or 15

(c) he has been recognised by competent authorities of India as having the rights and obligations of an Indian citizen.

(2) The exclusion of the applicant from protection under this Act shall not require the exclusion of his dependants where none of the reasons for exclusion applies to them.

Cessation. 6. (1) A person shall cease to be a refugee for the purposes of this Act if— 20

(a) he can no longer refuse to avail himself of the protection of the country of his citizenship, because the circumstances in respect to which he was recognised as a refugee have ceased to exist; or

(b) he voluntarily re-avails himself of the protection of his country of origin; or

(c) he has acquired the citizenship of India; or 25

(d) he has acquired the citizenship of some other country and enjoys the protection of that country; or

(e) he has voluntarily re-established himself in the country which he left, or outside which he remained owing to fear of persecution; or

(f) he has voluntarily regained the citizenship that he had been deprived of; or 30

(g) he, having been stateless, is able to return to the country of former ordinary residence as the circumstances in respect to which he was recognised as a refugee no longer apply.

(2) In the assessment under clauses (a) and (g) of sub-section (1),—

(i) consideration shall be given to whether the circumstances upon which the status was granted no longer apply or have changed significantly and permanently; and 35

(ii) due consideration shall further be given to any compelling reasons presented by the refugee concerned, arising out of previous persecution, for refusing to return to his country of origin or his former ordinary residence. 40

Cancellation and revocation. 7. (1) A person's status as a refugee may be cancelled for the purposes of this Act if—

(a) he, or a third party acting on his behalf, misrepresented or concealed facts that were material to the determination of refugee status, with or without fraudulent intent; or

(b) he is guilty of misconduct, including threats or bribery; or

(c) there was an error of fact or law in the granting of the status; or

(d) there was misconduct or administrative error at any stage in the hearing, including the wrongful issuance of relevant documents.

5 (2) A person's status as a refugee shall be revoked for the purposes of this Act if he subsequently engages in conduct that falls within the exclusion criteria under section 5.

8. No refugee present within the national territory of India shall be expelled or returned in any manner whatsoever to any country where his life or freedom would be threatened on account of his race, religion, sex, nationality, ethnicity, membership of a particular social group or political opinion. Principle of Non-refoulement.

10 9. (1) Subject to section 8, a refugee or asylum-seeker may be removed from India only if— Provisions for removal from India.

(a) the concerned authority of the Central Government has certified that the refugee or asylum-seeker falls within the grounds specified under sub-section (1) of section 5, or sub-section (1) of section 6 or section 7; or

(b) his application for asylum has been finally denied.

(2) The removal of a person on the grounds specified in sub-section (1) shall be effected only after such person has been duly informed of the intention of the Central Government to remove him and given the opportunity to show cause against such removal, within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed, with regard thereto.

(3) Where an order is made for the removal of a refugee or asylum-seeker from India, any dependant of such refugee or asylum-seeker, who has not been granted asylum, may be included in such an order and removed from India:

25 Provided that before any order for the removal of a dependant is made, such dependant shall be afforded a reasonable opportunity to make an application for asylum and he either fails to apply or his application for asylum is finally denied by the Appellate Board.

(4) The Central Government may, by an order in writing, cause any refugee or asylum-seeker ordered to be removed from India, to be detained pending such removal.

30 (5) Where an order for removal is made, the concerned refugee or asylum-seeker will be removed to his country of origin:

Provided that where such refugee or asylum-seeker wishes to be removed to a third country, he shall be afforded reasonable time to obtain approval from such country, for his removal to that country.

35 (6) An order for removal shall be made only by the concerned authority of the Central Government in writing.

(7) An order for removal shall not be made until the final determination of an application for asylum under this Act.

11. (1) The Commission shall examine every application for asylum and, after giving an opportunity to the applicant to be heard, and after making such further inquiry as is necessary under this Act, determine whether the applicant is entitled to be recognised as a refugee in accordance with the principles under this Act. 40

(2) During the hearing under sub-section (1), the applicant shall be informed of and provided with the services of a competent interpreter and adequate opportunity to present evidence in support of his case. 45

(3) The Commission shall, within three months of the conclusion of the hearing, issue a decision in accordance with section 14, granting or denying asylum to the applicant.

(4) Where an application for asylum is accepted by the Commission, or where the appeal application is accepted by the Appellate Board, the Commission shall issue a refugee certificate containing identity information and indicating the legal status of the refugee and his dependants where applicable and which shall enable those included in it to stay in India legally.

5 (5) Where an application for asylum is rejected, the Commission shall issue a rejection letter containing detailed reasons for the decision.

12. (1) An applicant aggrieved by a decision of the Commission made under this Act, may, within sixty days from the date of such decision and in such manner and form, as may be prescribed, prefer an appeal to the Appellate Board: Appeal to lie to the Appellate Board.

10 Provided that the Appellate Board may accept an appeal application after the stipulated time period if reasonable cause for the delay is shown.

(2) On receipt of an appeal application under sub-section (1), the Appellate Board shall direct the Commission to renew the registration document issued under sub-section (6) of section 10 for a period of sixty days at a time, until a final decision is issued.

15 (3) The appellate Board may, after giving an opportunity to the applicant to be heard, and after making such further inquiry as is necessary under this Act, confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Commission.

(4) During the hearing under sub-section (3), the applicant shall be entitled to all the rights set out in sub-section (2) of section 11.

20 (5) The appellate Board shall, within three months of the conclusion of the hearing, issue a decision in accordance with section 14.

(6) Where an application for asylum is accepted at appeal, the Appellate Board shall direct the Commission to issue a refugee certificate as under sub-section (4) of section 11.

25 (7) Where an appeal application is rejected, the Appellate Board shall issue a rejection letter containing reasons for the decision.

(8) The decision of the Appellate Board shall be final.

13. (1) All hearings by the Commission under section 11 and the Appellate Board under section 12 shall include an in-person interview with the applicant within ninety days of the receipt of the application for asylum, with a view to reaching an effective and fair decision: Interview.

- 44. On and from the appointed day, no court or authority shall have, or be entitled to exercise, any jurisdiction, powers or authority in relation to matters specified in this Act, except the Supreme Court and a High Court exercising powers under articles 32, 226 and 227 of the Constitution. Bar of Jurisdiction.
- 5 45. No suit or other legal proceeding shall lie against the Central Government, State Government, Commission, Appellate Board or any person acting under the direction either of the Central Government, State Government, Commission or Appellate Board in respect of anything which is, in good faith, done or intended to be done, in pursuance of this Act or of any rules or any order made thereunder. Protection of action taken in good faith.
- 10 46. The provisions of this Act shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any other law for the time being in force. Act to have overriding effect.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The recent refugee crisis in Europe has forced the world to stop and notice the precarious and inhumane conditions of Syrian refugees. This is a moment for all countries, including India, to re-examine their current response and preparedness to deal with refugees and situations of mass movements.

India hosts more than two lakhs refugees and is at the centre of refugee movements in the South Asian region. India has been a home to refugees from Tibet, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka, Afghanistan, and Myanmar, as well as to Nepalese fleeing civil war. It had also hosted the largest ever refugee crisis in human history when ten million fled persecution and genocide by the Pakistan Army in East Bengal in 1971. Despite this, India is neither a signatory to the 1951 UN Convention relating to the status of Refugees nor does it have a domestic asylum framework. However, India's practice has been to adopt a humanitarian approach towards refugees under the terms of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR). Our country implements a refugee protection framework which is based on a combined series of executive policies.

The judiciary has also accorded constitutional protection to refugees in its judgment in National Human Rights Commission vs State of Arunachal Pradesh & Anr. in 1996. The Supreme Court held that the fundamental right to equality under article 14 and the right to life and personal liberty under article 21 extends to all foreigners, including refugees. Apart from protection under the Constitution, refugees also receive support from a body of complementary law and practice such as the Right to Education Act, 2009 (RTE) and health services.

The Government of India relies on the Foreigners Act, 1946 and the Registration of Foreigners Act, 1939 to govern the entry, stay, and exit of all refugees. However, these legislation treat refugees as foreigners and fail to take into account their special status on humanitarian grounds or under international law. They are not equipped to support the country's need to deal with asylum seekers and migration movements.

As a member of the Executive Committee of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugee (UNHCR), India is committed to protect refugees and has also offered its assistance to refugees from Syria, Myanmar, and Afghanistan. Therefore, it has become increasingly important to enact a structured framework to establish a clear and consistent regime. The current global crisis clearly demonstrates that the lack of a legal framework does not so much deter refugees in the face of a crisis as leaves the host country ill-equipped to deal with the inflow. Even the National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) has under scored the need for enacting such a domestic legislation. It is important to mention that in 1997 India had drafted a model law on refugees under the guidance of Justice P.N. Bhagwati, the former Chief Justice of India, but it was not enacted. In addition it is a glaring anomaly that India is the only significant member of the UN without a refugee law, that too at a time when it is seeking recognition as a responsible international power through a permanent seat at the UN.

The proposed Bill seeks to incorporate the current policy on refugees, the principles of the Constitution, and India's international obligations. The provisions of the Bill provide clarity and uniformity on the recognition of asylum seekers as refugees and their rights in the country. It also seeks to end a system of ambiguity and arbitrariness which, too often, results in injustice to a highly vulnerable populace. The Bill proposes to enable the Government to manage refugees with more accountability and order, while balancing humanitarian concerns and security interests of the State.

India has been, and continues to be, a generous host to several persecuted communities, doing more than many countries who are signatories to the UN Refugee Convention, 1951. The Bill, if enacted, will put India at the forefront of asylum management in the world. It will finally recognise India's long-standing and continuing commitment to humanitarian and democratic values while dealing with refugees.

Hence this Bill.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 16 of the Bill provides for the establishment of the National Commission for Asylum. Sub-clause 3 provides that the head office of the Commissions shall be at New Delhi and enables the Commission to establish offices at other places in India.

Clause 17 provides appointment of a Chief Commissioner and six other Commissioners in the Commission. Clause 19 provides for appointment of administrative, technical and other staff to the Commission. Clause 20 provides for the establishment of the National Appellate Board for Asylum.

Clause 21 provides that the Appellate Board shall consist of a Chairperson, and not less than four other Members to be appointed by the Central Government. Clause 23 provides for appointment of administrative, technical and other staff to the Appellate Board.

Clause 24 provides that the salaries and allowances payable to the Chief Commissioner, Commissioners, Chairperson, and Members shall be prescribed by the Central Government.

Clause 26 provides for the appointment of a Secretary to the Commission and a Secretary to the Appellate Board to exercise the powers of general superintendence, direction and control in respect of all administrative matters of the Commission or Appellate Board. It also provides for salaries and allowances payable to the secretary and other officers and employees of the Commission and the Appellate Board shall be such as may be prescribed by the Central Government.

Clause 35 provides that same healthcare rights which apply to Indian citizens and service and free and compulsory primary education shall be provided to the refugee who has been granted asylum. Clause 36 provides that same healthcare rights and services as applicable to Indian citizens and free and compulsory primary education shall be provided to asylum-seekers and mass influx refugees.

Clause 39 provides that the Central Government shall provides grants of sums of money to the Commission and Appellate Board for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

The Bill, therefore, if enacted would involve expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India. It is estimated that a recurring expenditure of about rupees fifty crore per annum would be involve from the Consolidated Fund of India.

A non-recurring expenditure of about rupees twenty crore is also likely to involve.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 42 of the Bill empowers the Central Government to make rules for carrying out the provisions of the Bill. As the rules will relate to matter of detail only, the delegation of legislative power is of normal character.
